Indie Studios
that create jobs in Canada

No Equity
Retained

Full Motion focuses on no-hassle support services catered specifically to indie game studios. Our program differentiates from existing options by assisting studios through the entirety of a game's lifecycle and beyond. We focus our support to help you qualify, plan, and access industry-focused funding options which match the needs of your studio. As indie game developers, we have experienced the struggle, understand it, and are here to help. With a group of associated professionals, member studios get timely and experienced counsel through the lifecycle of their projects.
